LIBRARY ASSOCIATION LIBRARY.

Rules for the Use of the Collection.

The Library of the Association is deposited at the London School of Economics, Clare Market, Kingsway, W.C. Members and Associates of the Library Association and Members of the Library Assistants' Association are admitted under the rules of the School of which the following are a selection :—

The Reading-room is open at 10 a.m. daily, except as provided in Rule 3, closing at the following times :—

During Term: Daily, except Saturdays, at 9 p.m.; and on Saturdays at 1 p.m.

During Vacation: Daily, except Saturdays, at 6 p.m.; and on Saturdays at 1 p.m.

(3) The Library is entirely closed on the following days: On all Sundays; on 1 January; on Good Friday and the five days next following; on the Saturday before Whit Monday and the four days next following; on the first fourteen days of August; on 25 December and six days next following.

(5) Readers may take the books they require for purposes of study from the shelves in the Reading-room. They must not replace the books when done with, but leave them on the table.

(10) Persons admitted to the Reading-room shall on their first visit sign their names in a book to be kept for that purpose, as evidence that they will conform to these rules.

Books in the Collection of the Library Association, except such as are marked for reference only, may be borrowed for home use by Members and Associates of the Library Association and by Members of the Library Assistants' Association either by personal application during the hours at which the Library is open or on application by post addressed to the Assistant Secretary, the Library Association, Caxton Hall, Westminster, S.W.

Regulations for the Loan of Books.

Application in person at the School of Economics must be made on the proper form, which is to be obtained at the catalogue desk in the Reading-room, to the Superintendent of the Reading-room during the hours at which the Reading-room is open.

Applications for works to be forwarded by post should be addressed to the Assistant Secretary of the Association as above. No special form is required. With the application must be enclosed sixpence in stamps or postal order for a single volume borrowed, or a shilling for more than one volume. The works required will be forwarded as soon as available to any address in the United Kingdom but not abroad.

Not more than three works, or six volumes, may be borrowed at one time.

Books may be retained for fifteen days, the days of issue and return each counting as one day.

The loan of any work may be renewed for a further period of eight days at the discretion of the Librarian of the School of Economics if the work has not in the meantime been asked for by another person entitled to borrow it. Applications for renewal should be addressed personally to the Superintendent of the Reading-room or by letter to the Librarian at the School of Economics.

Any borrower may be required to return a work after the first fifteen days if it shall have been asked for by another person entitled to borrow it.

Borrowers will be held fully responsible for the safe custody and return of works borrowed by them.

When a borrower is asked to return a work which he has on loan he should do so within twenty-four hours personally or by post.

The Hon. Secretary of the Association may at any time suspend anyone from the use of the Library for non-observance of these Rules, but must report the suspension to the next meeting of the Council for confirmation or otherwise.

N.B.—The Library of the Library Assistants' Association is subject to the above rules so far as regards the loan of books. The collection is housed at the Islington Public Library, 68, Holloway Road, N. Miss Olive E. Clarke is the Hon. Librarian.

PREFACE.

THE following Catalogue is a Class-list of the periodicals, books and pamphlets in the libraries of the Library and Library Assistants' Associations. It does not, however, include an extensive collection of library publications, viz., Bulletins, Catalogues, Handbooks, Histories, Reports, etc., which are available for reference or loan at the London School of Economics. This Collection, which is the property of the Library Association, has been excluded principally on the ground of expense. Its inclusion would have more than doubled the size of the present List, without materially enhancing its value for the student. In a few instances only has this rule of exclusion been departed from, e.g. in the case of the Catalogue of the Bibliothèque Nationale and of the Catalogue of Early English books to 1640 in the Library of the British Museum. It should, however, be stated that the Collection contains the Catalogues of many libraries of note —such as the Advocates' Library, the Imperial Library in Calcutta, the National Library of Ireland, the John Rylands Library, the London Library, the Bishopsgate Institute, the Hampstead Public Library, and amongst American Libraries—the Peabody Institute and the Carnegie Library in Pittsburgh. As the London School of Economics is the fortunate possessor of a copy of the General Catalogue of the British Museum Library it will be seen that the collections at the School offer great facilities for bibliographical research, as well as a variety of good examples for style, annotation or book selection. In the case of Subject and Personal Bibliographies the rule has been to include all lists of any bibliographical value—the shorter class-lists alone having been excluded.

The classification of the Library of the London School of Economics is a special one. Group L Library administration is an adaptation of Class Z in the scheme of the Library of Congress, and this scheme has been followed—contrary to the practice of the London School of Economics—in the case of Subject and Personal Bibliographies, which are here arranged in two alphabets—the former divided under broad groups, the latter in the strict alphabetical order of the name of the person forming the subject of the bibliography.

The compilation of the present Class-list has been a labour of love on the part of its compilers—the Members of the Library Assistants' Association and the Librarian and Staff of the London School of Economics. My special thanks are due to Miss H. A. Funnell, who prepared the whole of the copy of the Library Association's Library for the press, and to Mr. B. M. Headicar for his unfailing goodwill and for his courtesy in providing the necessary assistance.

The Class-list should be regarded as a companion handbook to Mr. H. G. T. Cannon's excellent Bibliography of Library Economy. These two works together provide the student with a comprehensive view of the professional literature of Library science and economy. There are, however, still many gaps in the text-book and periodical departments of the Library. The latter have been carefully indicated with a view of stimulating the generosity of future donors. Of the gifts which have been made to the Library in the past the present Class-list may be regarded as the most suitable acknowledgment.

E. WYNDHAM HULME,
Hon. Librarian.

Chivers' Special Methods of Binding Public Library Books

include the

Strongest Possible Sewing and Binding,

Flexible Opening, Beautiful Lettering.

We give the kind of sewing, jointing, forwarding and materials each individual book requires. The varying number and thicknesses of sections are also considered.

Our patented oversewing is the best ever devised for books weak in the fold, and for the general rebinding of modern paper. It is planned to allow of the greatest flexibility and strength.

The leathers we use are specially dyed and tanned for us, and are guaranteed free of mineral acids.

We have so arranged the finishing and lettering of the books that we are now enabled not only to give a better book but also a better-looking library book than anyone else in the trade.
